AI search visibility & business automation · San Diego · Dalan Haas

When somebody asks ChatGPT, Gemini or Claude for the best in your business — in your city, in your specialty — you are either in the answer or you are not. Most businesses have never checked. I measure it, find out exactly why, and fix the things that decide it.

Start here — free, 30 seconds, right now

I'll ask ChatGPT the question your next customer would ask, on my phone, while I'm standing here. You watch the answer come back. No email, no obligation.

AI VISIBILITY

| AI Visibility Audit                                                                                                                                                                                                                | $400        |
| The full diagnosis. 45+ live checks across ChatGPT, Gemini and Claude, scored against a baseline. Every public profile verified by hand. Who gets recommended instead of you, with counts. Written report, and a call to walk it through. |                     |
| 90-Day Visibility Sprint                                                                                                                                                                                                           | $750/mo × 3 |
| The fixes, done for you. Structured data, credentials made machine-readable, location and specialty pages, Google Search Console and Bing setup, review campaign. Monthly report. Re-measured against your baseline at day 90.            |                     |
| Foundation Build                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | $1,500      |
| For when you don't control your own website — or don't have one. A site you own outright, built correctly for AI and search from day one.                                                                                                 |                     |
| Ongoing Tracking                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | $300–500/mo |
| After the sprint. The same questions re-run monthly, trend against your baseline, content kept current, reviews managed. You see the number move — or you see that it hasn't.                                                             |                     |

| For brokerages &amp; teams                                                                                                |                   |
| 3–9 agents                                                                                                                       | $350 each |
| 10+ agents                                                                                                                       | $300 each |
| Office-wide report                                                                                                               | ask        |
| Audited individually, presented together. Most offices find the brokerage gets named far more often than anyone who works there. |                   |

Content & Social Autopilot

$399/mo

A full week of on-brand posts — copy and graphics — generated and scheduled to Facebook and Instagram every week. Everything stages as drafts for your approval. Includes automated review requests after each job.

Full Autopilot

$599–799/mo

Everything above, plus inbox triage that surfaces real leads, an AI chat and booking widget, missed-call text-back, and a monthly performance report.

Basic Webpage Build

from $500

One page, mobile-first, contact form, click-to-call, map, basic on-page SEO. Hosting and edits from $49/mo.

Full Website Build

4–8 pages, keyword-targeted copy, structured data, Google Business Profile setup, blog and analytics. Range depends on how much automation and customisation you want.

Google Ads

$750 build · $400/mo

Keyword research with real volume and cost data, campaign built and structured properly, negatives, ad copy. Managed monthly against a forecast, with wasted spend cut. Campaigns launch paused until you approve them.

Smaller pieces, one-time

ask

Structured data install · Google Business Profile · Search Console and Bing setup · lead-tracking CRM · review-request system.

You can watch this working before you buy it. Every automation above runs my own San Diego business, The Sign Ninjas SD, before I sell it to anyone. The content engine generates and schedules fourteen posts a week — I'll show you this week's on my phone.

What I won't tell you. Nobody can guarantee an AI will recommend you — these systems aren't predictable, and anyone promising a ranking is guessing. What I can do is fix the inputs they read, measure where you start, and re-measure.

Getting indexed shows up in weeks. Getting recommended takes longer, and I won't put a date on it. The baseline number is yours to keep either way. And nothing publishes without you — content, posts and ad campaigns all stage for your approval by default.
